E. B. McGlone
Candidate for the Republican nomination for REPRESENTATIVE.

Mr. E. B. McGlone, whose picture appears above, is a man whose character and qualifications make him all that the people of the Powell-Estill Legislative District desire in a Representative. He was born and reared on a farm in Carter county, Ky., and is 33 years of age. His father was a farmer in ordinary circumstances, and he is one of a large family of children. As a farmer boy he was faithful and industrious and was known throughout the community as a model youth. Early in life he became identified with the timber interests in Eastern Kentucky, in which business he is still engaged. He is one of Eastern Kentucky's most loyal sons and no man has worked harder nor done more to build up his native section. He has lived in this Legislative district for fifteen years. Four of these years were spent in Estill county at Ridgewood, but for the past eleven years he has lived in his present home in Powell county at Clay City.

Follow Mr. McGlone through his career from boyhood up, during his childhood in Carter county, in his schooldays at the Morehead Normal, as a business man in Estill, and now as a citizen of Powell, and you will not find a spot or blemish on his character, and no man that he ever wronged. He is strictly temperate, a Christian both in profession and practice and is liberal towards his own and other churches with both his time and his means. For some years he has been a teacher of the Adult Bible Class in the Christian Sunday School at Clay City. He is devoted to his wife and children, faithful to his friends, accommodating to his neighbors and loyal to his party.

Mr. McGlone is a man of splendid education and besides is widely read and well posted on all the issues of the day. The district possesses few men of greater ability.

Mr. McGlone has no selfish interests to promote in making this race. He has a true citizens pride in his district's welfare and interest enough in its affairs to want it to be properly represented, and has devotion enough to his party to answer its call. This is the district where his children were born and where they are now being reared; this is where his interests are and where, for fifteen years, he has been an unselfish servant of his party and a prominent figure in all of its councils. He, naturally, feels that he is entitled to the nomination which he seeks, and the thoughtful people of the district think so, as well.

Being the son of a farmer, and having been a farmer himself, he knows the needs of the farmers and will stand for their interests. He is a successful business man, such as the Legislature needs most at this time. Only practical business men can put the finances of the state on a sound business basis. He is

Birthday Party.

Miss Ruth Eaton entertained a few friends Friday evening, in celebration of her birthday anniversary. The house had been very prettily decorated for the occasion, and a most delightful evening was spent by the guests, with music, singing and games. The table in the dining room was decorated with ferns and flowers and, with the cake and candles, presented a very pleasing appearance. Miss Eaton is a very charming hostess, and those present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The guest were Misses Ethel Johnson, and Fannie Mountz, and Messrs. John C. Vorderbruggen, J. H. Roberts and Edgar Curry.

No Oil Found on Hardwick's Creek.

Williams & Polin, who have been drilling for oil and gas on the farms of Henry Tipton and Harrison Grayson Hardwick's Creek, have quit it up, having sunk two dry wells. They only went about 125 feet, and as traces of gas were found on both properties, it is reasonable to suppose that further development might have had better results. These people have been on several other properties in that neighborhood, and will probably sink test wells on some of them.

Stork Paid Noted Visit

The stork paid a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Caudill, of Waltz, this county, last Friday night and left three fine girl babies with Mr. and Mrs. Caudill. Mr. Caudill, who is a prominent merchant and a brother of our Post Master, Mr. J. D. Caudill, and J. N. Caudill, of this place is receiving many congratulations from his friends. The little ladies, who have been named Tina, Ina and Nina, and their proud mother, are doing nicely. — Morehead Mountaineer.

One of our business men was visited a few days ago by an itinerant vender of hair tonics, etc., and not quite believing all that was claimed for the tonic which he was persuaded to buy, tried it on his moustache, with the result that where he had a handsome sandy-colored fascinator, he now has a black one. It is said that his wife refused to admit him to the house that night when he went home. At any rate, he was seen, for the first time in months, rambling around the streets at a late hour that night.

Superintendent Schirmer of the Orphans' Home, is teaching the boys Nature study, and to that end has secured a collection of snakes, all of which have been caught by the boys. STANTON.

(By P. O. Derthick.)

Mr. Wiley Skidmore of the North Fork country was in town last week on business.

Mrs. Tet Hall of Pulaski County is visiting her many relatives and friends in and around Stanton.

E. H. Fuller was acquitted at his examining trial Saturday for the shooting of A. Walker.

Miss McDill returned to her home in Ohio Monday of this week. She will not return to us but will be married this fall to Mr. Buck who taught in our college last year till he was taken sick with typhoid fever and had to return home. We wish them well when the great event comes off. Misses Paisley and Carver accompanied her as far as Lexington where they went to have their eyes treated.

The Sunday School convention at Nada Sunday was a splendid success. The house was filled at all the meetings. There were quite a number from Clay City, Hardwicks Creek, Rosslyn, Filson, Dundee and other points to Nada, who attended. Dinner was provided on the grounds and a splendid picture was taken of the crowd.

Misses Nora West, Maude Bowen, Gladys Welch and Mr. Ezekiel Brash received first class certificates in the state teachers examination held last week. Maude Bowen received the highest grade. Miss Thompson would have received the highest grade but she was not acquainted with Kentucky history. She received grades above 95 in most all her papers. There were 20 who took the examination, with 7 second class and 9 failures.

In the census report just completed in Powell County there are 1111 white males and 1062 white females, 31 colored males and 45 females. Of this number there are 435 illiterates. It will be a great day in our country when we shall wipe out this stain, and there shall be no one in the county who will not be able to read or write. With all our splendid day schools and with the establishment of moonlight schools we trust that everybody in the county will co-operate with us and raise Kentucky's standard in education among the states of the Union. We were almost at the bottom a few years ago but we are fast climbing to the top and we can soon say to the world that every adult person in Powell County can read and write.

A social gathering was provide for the school-mates and friends of Richard Crowe at the home of the writer Tuesday evening. About 50 were present and all had an enjoyable time. Games and music enlivened the time, and ice cream and cakes were served. We were all glad to see Richard back and to know that he had done so well in Johnsons Bible College at Kimberlin Heights, Tenn. At the request of many of his friends he preached at the Christian Church Sunday night to one of the largest crowds that has ever been in there. We have heard a great many compliments on Richard's first sermon in Stanton and we are all proud of him. After teaching school he will return to Kimberlin Heights and resume his studies.

Mrs. Malinda Martin, one of the most respected of Powell County's aged citizens died at the home of her son, Marion in Stanton last Saturday morning. She was 74 years of age and her husband James Martin died fourteen years ago of heart trouble. There are eight children living and all of them were at the funeral with the exception of Mrs. Cinda Hogan of Missouri. The others present were Rome, Marion, John, Andrew and Bert Martin, Mrs. Ruth Willoughby, and Mrs. Bettie Boone. Mrs. Martin died of dropsy and other complications. She was a woman that was loved by all and she had a host of friends who will miss her. The writer extends to the family his deepest sympathy as it was just one month ago that he was called upon to give up his mother, but we feel that heaven is nearer and dearer to us for the ties that are binding us there.

A HOME-MADE PAPER

THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1915

The Kentucky Illiteracy Commission, under the leadership of Mrs. Corn Wilson Stewart, is preparing for a campaign throughout the state that will, if possible, eliminate illiteracy from every county in Kentucky. During July, August and September over 100 of Kentucky's greatest orators, led by Governor McCreary, will invade every county and make a final rally. Previous to this there will be county campaigns, in which local speakers will explain in full the objects of the campaign.

The coming of the 17-year locusts is not looked on very seriously by the farmers of Powell county, as it is improbable that they will strike this section at all, but in any event, it is wise to be prepared for them. According to the government experts, one of the best ways to prevent their damaging trees is to spray the orchards, shade trees, etc., with a solution of lime or with Bordeaux mixture. A little work now may save your orchard in the event of the pest getting as far west as Powell county.

Politics are becoming more and more an everyday matter of discussion now, as the date of the primary gets closer, and candidates and their friends are getting in their work in good style. The greatest interest appears to be taken in the race for Circuit Judge between Judge Benton and Judge Shackelford, and in the race for Representative from this district. In the latter race there are two candidates on the Democratic ticket, A. M. Lowe, of Rosslyn, and Albert Easter, of Waltersville. These two appear to be running neck and neck, with both apparently well satisfied with the state of affairs. On the Republican ticket, A. T. Stewart, E. B. McGlone, B. F. Hatton and T. J. Ponder are still in the ring. We have not seen Mr. Ponder lately, but the other three all appear quite confident, and all are working hard for the nomination. In the Circuit Judge race, Judge Benton appears to have a safe margin, although Judge Shackelford's henchmen are working hard, and claim to be getting results. Judge Benton's speech at Winchester a couple of weeks ago, has been favorably commented on by a large number of the voters, and sentiment in his favor seems to be increasing. Several new candidates promise to come out for county judge, county attorney, and other county officers. No candidates have appeared yet for the city officers, but several are said to be considering the advisability of announcing.

Bourbon Man Here

James Douglas and family, of Bourbon county spent from Thursday of last week, to Monday, visiting friends and relatives in this county. Mr. Douglas stayed with Geo. W. Clark and family, and the Mountz family, on Hardwick's Creek. He reports that crops in his neighborhood are in fairly good condition considering the backward weather, although the tobacco plants are nearly all killed. While here Mr. Douglas called at The Times office and renewed his subscription for another year.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. The Tiger Plant Setter

The TIGER AUTOMATIC TRANSPLANTER makes the planter independent of the weather. You set your plants when you get your sprouts ready—it makes no difference whether the soil is dry or not.

The important feature of any transplanter is the mechanism. Examine the valve on the improved Tiger—valve has a flat rubber cut-off and 1 1/4 inch hose, which assures plenty of water when you want it and where you want it, and is a positive cut-off. The Tiger valve is not like other planter valves which have a rubber ball that becomes every other shape but round after one season's use.

The Tiger also has lever and pressure springs to regulate depth of shoes. Therefore, it can be used on much steeper land--can also be had with fertilizer attachment. If all the good qualities combined in The Tiger make it the very best--your judgement demands that you look it over before you purchase.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of
Sunday School Course of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 6

NATHAN REBUKES DAVID.

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 11:22-12:7a.
GOLDEN TEXT—Create in me a clean heart O God.—Psalm 51:10.

This is a lesson that demands great care in its presentation and treatment, which will differ widely according to age. For the younger the briefest sort of statement that David fell in love with Uriah's wife and to obtain her had her husband killed will be sufficient. With such, throw the emphasis upon the danger of harboring evil thoughts and the need of heart purity (see Golden Text).

With adults, however, some time may be devoted to the social evil which is such a menace to every nation, care being taken lest the discussion become morbid, or that we neglect to emphasize the fact that the cure is not in regulation or reformation but in the regeneration of the human heart.

I. David's Many Good Deeds, II Samuel, 7 and 9. As a background for his most repulsive sin David had a long list of excellent deeds. His desire for a better abiding place for the ark was not according to God's will for two reasons: first, that an ornate house might easily corrupt, through idolatry, the spirituality of the Hebrew religion; second, David was a man of war and therefore not qualified for temple building. Though denied, David did not despair, but at once provided that his successor carry out his desire.

II. David's One Great Sin, II Samuel, 11:6. David's victories over his enemies are dismissed in a few verses, yet his sin is set forth in detail—another evidence of the divine origin and inspiration of the Bible. David had followed the example of neighboring kings and taken to himself many wives, evidently regarding his fancy as supreme and himself as above the law. David was "off guard" in the matter of temptation, a dangerous position for all, both soldier and civilian. David had had too long and too great a period of success and prosperity after his long period of privation, and this led to carelessness and pride. David was "off duty," indulging in ease while Joab did his fighting. As a result he became an adulterer and a murderer, and the record in no way seeks to palliate his guilt. From all this the record brings to us many important lessons. Outwardly prosperous and his army successful, David must have felt in his heart the spiritual blight in the words, "but the thing was evil in the eyes of the Lord" (v. 27 R. V.); no psalm writing then.

III. Nathan's Parable, II Samuel, 12:1-7. It is an evidence of God's grace that he sent his servant to rebuke and restore this "man after his own heart." Such is his mercy, for he does not will that any should perish but that all might come to the knowledge of forgiveness (Ezekiel 33:11; Matthew 23:37). No parable ever had its desired effect more quickly than this one. It brought conviction and repentance (v. 13) and led to the writing of the fifty-first psalm. It was a delicate task set before Nathan thus to rebuke the king, yet it reveals the essential nobleness of David in that he did not become angry. Nathan's task and his wisdom are revealed in his approach and in the way he led David to condemn, unwittingly, his own course of action. This was better than to begin by upbraiding and denunciation. Verse two suggests, inferentially, God's great goodness to David, which made the offense one of gross ingratitude.

IV. Thou Art the Man—v. 7a. Thus far the story is one all too common, then and now, of the strong crushing the weak and glorying in their selfishness. What follows is the evidence of God's response to man's repentance, the parallel to which has nowhere else been found in the ancient world. The glory of it is that David heard and heeded God's messenger. The whole sordid story with its resultant action on David's part brings us many priceless lessons. (1) That man who had lived a life of faith and communion fell most miserably when he neglected his duty and took his eyes off God. There is a grave danger ahead of the man who begins to trifle with sin (I Cor. 10:12). (2) Though a man fall (the godly man) yet he is not utterly cast down. There is pardon for the vilest sinner and the most abject backslider. David's murderous hands and sin-stained soul found pardon (Ps. 32 and 51). (3) A man's sins, though he may find pardon, will cloud all of his future.

David felt it in his own life and family; both daughter and sons felt its blight (see chapter 13), and it brought forth David's immortal lament over Absalom.

David's trusted friend joined the son's rebellion and caused David great sorrow (see 11:3; 23:34; 15:21 and Ps. 55:12-14).

A human book would cover up, omit or seek to palliate such an act by one of the great of the earth (cf. the story of Napoleon and Josephine), yet the Bible tells all the facts to serve as a warning and to reveal God's matchless grace and mercy.

STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr.
Hughes Would Die, But
One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die.

I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good.

I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.

Quite a number of people visited the cemeteries Decoration Day, and decorated the graves of loved ones who had passed away. Some of the graves however, look sadly neglected, and we would suggest that a day be set aside to have everyone go to the cemetery and clean it up, putting it in a more presentable condition. We will be pleased to hear from any of our readers regarding this.

Several more of the boys and men around town have ordered instruments and will start practice with the band, at once. It is expected that there will be at least 25 pieces in the band, and under the efficient leadership of C. J. "Old Mott" on Exhibition.

In the lobby of the postoffice is to be seen "Old Mott" alias the "Slick Duck" as large as life and twice as natural. She was found by Deputy Collector S. B. Williams and Deputy Marshal John Roberts on Leatherwood of Lost creek and having been used in immoral and law violation matters the boys thought it best to arrest her in her unholy and illicit business and bring her away from the scene of all her revels. It is said she was the basis for the never-failing spring that County Attorney South Strong uncovered last winter, and well she might be as she is a forty-gallon copper. By the side of the Slick Duck sits a small and battered companion for whose dilapidated appearance the Slick Duck seems to have contempt.—Jackson Times.

Raise License on Soft Drinks.

The City Council in special session Monday night passed an ordinance making the license for the handling and selling of Malta and Malt Mead, at $1,000 per year, and restricted the drinks to be sold in the territory which had been occupied by the saloons. It is understood that three licenses had previously been issued for the selling of Malta in January last, and that holders of these licenses would refuse to pay the increase license and would take the matter to the Courts. The new ordinance repeals all other ordinance and becomes effective at once. What the outcome will be is only a matter of conjecture.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

HIS VISITOR WAS SHAGGY

Disconcerted the Tired New York Business Man, Whose Window Was Open.

A tired business man from out of town entertained a party at supper on Thanksgiving eve in one of the Broadway restaurants, and he was still more tired when he awoke late yesterday in his room at the Waldorf. A dull light came in from the court upon which his window gave, and it served to increase his feeling of lassitude. Perhaps, he reflected, a sedative would help some.

So he got up and groped his way into the bathroom, found the bottle with the medicine in it, and returned to where the icewater was. While he was in the act of measuring the dose a dark object intruded itself between the outside world and him. He stared at it. It was shaggy. He let out a whoop.

Dropping the bottle and glass, he sprang to the telephone. A friendly little whine was somewhat reassuring, but his nerves were unstrung. Therefore it was that a moment later the clerk in the office downstairs was getting this message from the clerk of that floor:

"The gentleman in 399 says he wants somebody to hurry and get out of his room an animal that has suddenly appeared in it. He says it is shaggy and has four legs, and whines like a dog, and—"

"Yes"—after a pause—"he says it is a dog. But he wants someone to hurry up and get it out."

It turned out that the room the tired man occupied has its sill almost on a level with the roof of the palm garden, and that the woman who owns the dog had a room on the same level. Doggie slipped out of her window for a promenade and, finding the man's window open, dropped in to pay a call.—New York Times.

The Bilious Optimist.

When a man with noticeable bilious eyes and liver spots on the projections of his face "lays himself out" to talk optimism to us, something seems to whisper to us that he is kidding himself (or us) for some little purpose of his own. Because when a bilious person talks optimism, his conversation suggests a superciliousness of expository motivation, so to speak.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Her Suggestion.

"Sometimes I think," remarked the timid young man in the parlor scene, "that if I—er—had money I would—er—get married." "Well," suggested the dear girl who was occupying the other end of the sofa, "why don't you try and—er—borrow some?"
